This woulde also be remembred of the Chirurgion, not so perfectly seene in this science, that there are in euery moneth certayne dayes more infortunate and dismall then the rest, wherein it is most dangerous to bleede in, eyther by Veyne, or by Wounde, to fall sicke, or to be sicke in, to take any medicines. &c. wherefore it shall especially behoue any, to refrayne as well from letting of Blood, Boring, and makyng incision, as also from ministryng of purgyng Medicines, vpon suche vnlucky dayes, purposely noted in my Almanacke with these Characters. ☌ □

A briefe description of the Moones Eclipse to happen this yeere. 1589.

The. xv. day of August, beyng Fryday, about. vii. a clocke in the euenyng, the Moone arysing in the East, shall appeare blemished or obscured to the quantitie of. iii. digittes, or thereabouts. The precise myddle tyme of this Eclipse may scarcely be obserued in our Horizon at London: much lesse the beginnyng thereof: but such Regions and Territories as are vnder the longitude of. 42. grades may visibly note the very fyrst entraunce into darknes; and other Cities the more occidentall they are, the more easely they may obserue the same: lyke as these which are more occidentall shall more hardly, or not at all perceyue any such partile Lunary defect

Touchyng the effectes and consequentes of the foresayde Eclipse, seeyng the ecliptycke poyntes are so few, the continuance thereof so small, and that not fully conspicuous in our Hæmisphere. &c. I haue aswell here, as elswhere omitted them, as lytle, or no way preiudiciall vnto vs, whom the good Iupiter, hospitator ipius Deliqui, fauoureth more then the present obscuration wylbe able to repeale, or hynder, mawger the extrauagant Iudicialles of Proclus Lucius, Frauncis Iunctine, or any other peremptory Censor.

How the principall members of mans body are gouerned of the xij. Celestial signes of the Zodiaque, the present Anatomie doth euidently shewe, euen as Marcus Manilius hath orderly described, and effectually declared the same in the. 12. Chap. of his seconde Booke Astronomicon: whose Latine Hexameters I haue summarily translated (after my rude maner) into these. viij. Englysh Hexameters folowyng.

Head and Face Aaries: Necke and Throte Taurus vpholdeth.
To Gemini geueth armes: to Cancer brest, stomacke & lunges.
As Leo rules the Backe and Hart: so Virgo belyghteth
In Guttes and Belly: Reignes and Loynes Libra retayneth.
Scorpio the Secretes and Bladder challengeth: of Thyghes
Only Sagittarius the gouernour is, Capricornus
The Knees as subiectes doth guyde: but Aquarius holdeth
The Legges: and Pisces mainteyne the Feete to be their right.

Januarie hath .xxxj. dayes.

Now warme meates, warme clothes, with warming exercise embrace:
Drowsynes, and venery, bathes, and phlebothmi abandon:
Yet may ye slepe longer, then when your dayes be the longest:
All hath a tyme, and place, and nothynge seasonable allwayes.

Cum Priuilegio Regiæ Maiestatis.

To the Reader.

Conſideryng how neceſſary an Almanacke and Prognoſtication fytteth the vſe of diuers perſons, and what comfort and profite may for the tyme be reaped by it, ſpecially concernyng the humane bodyes, as when (by miſchaunce) they happen to be vexed by any hurtfull fall, bruſe, ſtripe, or wounde, or otherwyſe afflicted by ſicknes and griefe, I thought good to offer this vnto thy viewe: for the knowledge and due conſideration of the Signes, Planettes, and tymes of the yeere, do not a lytle helpe for the curyng of the ſayd bodyes: and (if the diſeaſe be not vncurable) to the reſtoryng agayne of their former ſtate and health. And ſurely (in my opinion) the Phiſition or Chyrurgion that vndertaketh to deale with any diſeaſe, griefe, ſore, or wounde, (ſpecially with ſuche as be dangerous) without reſpecting the conuenient tymes when he may ſafely miniſter, or the contrary and vnapt tymes, when he ought to abſtayne, is lyke vnto hym that walketh in darknes, and knoweth not which way he goeth: therefore I ſay, that the knowledge of many thynges by Aſtronomie, doth much good to many, and ſpecially to the profeſſors of Phiſicke and Chirurgerie. For how myght we know the courſe of tyme, as yeeres, dayes, and monethes, otherwyſe then by the motion of the Heauens, Starres, and Planettes? How myght we knowe (yea foreknowe) the change, full, and quarters of the Moone, the Eclipſe, the great coniunctions and oppoſitions of the ſuperiour Planettes, the generation of blaſing Starres, and other ſtrange meteors that appeare many tymes in the Elementes, but by the ſcience of Aſtronomie?

Concernyng predictions that are gathered yeerely of the effectes that ſhoulde folowe the foreſayde thynges, grounded vpon certayne rules and authorities, I wyſhe no man ſo to vnderſtande them, as though of meere neceſſitie they ſhould ſo come to passe, but to take them onely Contingenter, et non necessario. For oftentymes many secrete perticuler causes, may be concurrent and ioyned to the cause being principall in nature, (which are chiefly to be considered) that may let and cleane suppresse the effectes that are foretolde, and loked for.

To conclude, vnperfect iudgementes, errours, ouersyghtes, and faultes, may be, and are commited in all other sciences dyuers tymes: and therefore no marueyle, yf the auctors of Astronomie, and those that folowe them, fall into errours somerymes: for nothyng in this transitorie worlde is certayne, nothyng true, permanent, and vnfallible, but onely the worde of God, which remayneth for euer, the which he graunt vs grace to beleeue and folowe, who hath redeemed vs with his most precious blood. Amen.

A necessarie collection of Phlebotomie, or blood letting, setting downe by diuision the generall and speciall considerations thereunto belonging.

AS in other thinges, so in Phlebotomie, or letting of blood, the cause is fyrst fayrfully and circumspectly to be considered, as that it be to purge the body of some vnnaturall, naughtie, and superfluous humor, whose substaunce is eyther simple or mixt: simple, when it doth of it selfe, without the admixtion of any other, degenerate, as blood doth, when it putrifieth in the veynes, the pores beyng stopped: mixt, when it is mingled with some that is alredy corrupted, as in the Dropsie, where the blood is mixt with water: then the cause being thus allowed vpon, and certaynely knowen for needefull and good to the Patient (for otherwyse lettyng of blood is very dangerous, and openeth a way to many greuous infirmities: and wt hall here woulde generally be noted, that it is not conuenient eyther for a very leake and weake man, or for a very fatte and grosse man to be let blood) there remayne to be considered:

How it standeth with ỳ Patient.
- inwardly
  1. for his complexion.
  2. age.
- outwardly
  3. for the tyme of the yeere, and moneth generally.
  4. for the tyme of the day, and dyet perticulerly.

A Prognostication.

1. Complexion.

1. In the complexion is to be considered, whether he be
   1. Sanguine, that is, hotte and moyst.
   2. Collericke, that is, hotte and dry.
   3. Melancholie, that is, colde and dry.
   4. Phlegmaticke, that is, colde and moyst.

2. Age.

2. In his age, whether he be
   - in his youth.
   - in his manly, or middle age.
   - in his elderly age.
   - in his crooked olde age.

3. The time of the yeere.

Concernyng the tyme of the yeere, he is to be aduised, what partes thereof are
- good, as the Spring: from the middest whereof, to the beginnyng of Sommer is simply the best tyme for this purpose: howbeit some thinke Autumne reasonable good, as no doubt it is, in comparison eyther of Sommer or Winter: being otherwyse in it selfe, to be reckoned rather for bad, then good.
- bad
  - very bad, as Sommer and Winter, for their extremitie of heate and colde,
  - more tollerable, as Autumne, beyng somewhat more temperate.

4. The

4. The time of the moneth.

Concernyng the tyme of the moneth, these generall Cautions are to be obserued, that he be not let blood in any member with any chirurgical instrument, eyther

The Moone being in Tauro, Geminis, Leone, Virgine, or Capricorno: or the last halfe of Libra, and fyxt of Scorpio.

The Sunne, the Moone, or the Lorde of the Horoscope, being in the signe that ruleth that member.

The Moone beyng in any part of via lactea, or in via combusta, or in domo casus sui, or being vacua, or tarda cursu, or in terminis infortuniorum, or in the duodennarial diuision of the twelue houses, placed eyther in. 1. 6. 8. or. 12. place thereof, or applying to the Lord of the house.

The day before, the day it selfe, the day after the change of the Moone.

Halfe a naturall day, that is. 12. houres before, and as many houres after the quarters of the Moone.

A day before, and a day after the full of the Moone.

A day before, and a day after the Coniunction, Quartile, or Oppositon of the Moone with Saturne or Mars.

A day before the Coniunction of the Moone with Mercurie or Venus, or the head of the Dragon, or tayle of the Dragon infortunate: beside other infortunate dayes in euery moneth, generally noted in most Almanackes.

And

And then the conuenientest time of ỳ moneth, for the { 1. Sanguine. 2. Cholericke. 3. Melancholy. 4. Phlegmatick. } the Moone being in { 1. Any of the signes following. 2 Cancer, or Pisces. 3. Aquarius, and fyrst halfe of Libra. 4. Arie, or Sagittarius. }

Ratio. Contraries are remedied by their contraries.

Howbeit, some specially commende Cancer, Aquarius, and Pisces, for letryng of Blood: but Pisces can not be so good, beyng a common or bicorporall signe.

Also the best and most laudable Aspectes for this purpose, are these, accordyng to our soundest writers in this kynde.

- The conjunction of the Moone with Iupiter, or Venus, are simply and principally best: so that Venus be not combust.
- The trine or sextile of the Moone with Iupiter, Sol, Venus, and Mercurie, are good, but especially with Iupiter or Mercurie.
- The quartile or oppositon of the Moone with Iupiter or Venus doth well.
- The trine or sextile of the Moone with Mars, are reasonable good, or indifferent.

The tyme of the moneth for

- Youth: from the change to the fyrst quarter.
- Middle age: from the fyrst quarter to the full.
- Elderly age: from the full to the last quarter.
- Olde age: from the last quarter to the change.

Ratio

Ratio. Lyke reioyceth in his lyke.

Howbeit, no chylde woulde be let blood before fourteene yeeres of age: nor olde man after seuentie, vnlesse his strength be the greater, and somewhat more then ordinarie at those yeeres.

5. Time of the day, and diet.

The tyme of the day must be eyther
- Morning: after the rysing of the Sunne, when a man is yet fastyng: which is simply the best, excepting the houres of Saturne and Mars: and chosing specially the houres of Iupiter and Venus, whose nature is most temperate.
- After noone: after reasonable good, or rather perfecte digestion, and expulsion of superfluities.

And withall, regarde must be had of the ayre: that it be not eyther too hot, or too colde, or cloudy, but calme, cleere, and temperate: the wynde being then eyther Northerly, or els Westerlye for the South wynde is no friende to Phlebotomie.

Ratio. Heate looseneth too much.
Colde bindeth too much.

Exception.

Notwithstandyng the premisses, yf this bloodletting be for the Phrenesie, the Pestilence, the Squinancie, the Pluriste, the Apoplexie, for a continuing Headache, proceedyng of choler or blood, or for any hot burnyng Feuer, or other extreame payne, a man in such a case may not tarry a chosen tyme, regularly set downe by the Astronomer, or Philitian, because haply, the patient myght miscarrie in the meane season, but incontinently with all conuenient speede, he is to seeke his remedie this way, vnlesse eyther hym hymselfe be very weake, or lyke to sowne, or the Moone be in the same signe that ruleth that very part of his body. Marry, in the foresayde case of extremitie, blood is not to be let in so great a quantitie, as otherwyse it woulde, yf a chosen tyme myght conueniently be expected.

As before bloodlettyng, these circumstaunces of complexion, age, and tymes, are to be considered, so after bloodlettyng, lyke consideration is to be hadde of our meates, and exercise. For meates we must take none, but such as are of an easie, and lyght digestion.

For exercise, we are to absteyne from all, vntyll the fourth day, exclusiue, not only those that be vehement, as,
- Ryding.
- Runnyng.
- Leapyng.
- Dawtyng.
- Wrestlyng.
- Fensyng.
- Tennise, &c.

But also, suche as are more milder: as
- Walkyng.
- Bowlyng.
- Bathyng.
- and specially Venerie.

Which both antecedent, and consequent limitations, beyng duely and ouerly obserued, I doubt not, but I may effectually conclude with that ancient commendation of Phlebotomie, geuen out in these two verses.

Bloodletting cheereth sad mindes, and pacifieth anger,
And preserueth loue from brainsicke fantasies alwayes.

Ade-

A Prognostication,

A description of the foure Quarters of this yeere of our Lorde. 1589.

Of Winter.

THE vsuall and common Winter of this yeere of our Lorde God. 1589. had his begynnyng the. xi. day of December. 1588. when as the Sunne entred into the fyrst minute of Capricorne, at which tyme was the Brumall, or Winter Solstice, beyng the shortest day, and the longest nyght in this whole yeere, by reason of the Sunnes greatest south declination from the Equinoctiall line: which Winter continueth vnto the. xi. day of March next folowyng. This season of the owne naturall disposition is knowen to be colde and moyst, contrary to the qualitie of Sommer, whose enemie it may be thought to be, for that (in all respectes) it destroyeth those thynges which the warmth of Sommer cherisheth and bryngeth foorth: yet it doth dyuers tymes happen, that aswell the Winter, as other Quarters of the yeere, do declyne and vary from their proper qualities.

Consideryng therefore the natures and dispositions both of the Planettes and fixed Starres, with other circumstaunces necessarie to be thought vpon, I iudge that this present Winter, wyll proue to be, at the begynnyng very colde, with much frost and snowe: about the myddest, more temperate, with rayny shewers: and, towarde the ende of this Winter quarter, many stormy tempestes of hayle, snowe, sleete, and boystrous stormes.

Diseases and sicknesses, lykely most to afflict mens bodyes within this Winter Reuolution, are Rhewmes, Coughes, Cathers, Hoarsenes, sore Eyes, paynes in the Thyghes and Knees,

the

the Dropsie, greeuous Headache, Toothache, the quartane Ague, the small Pockes very ryfe, weakenes in the Backe, the Megryme, and such lyke, hot burnyng Agues, whereof many aged persons are lyke to feele the extremitie. The Lorde of mercies and all comfort, graunt vs suche comfort and remedie agaynst these, and all other diseases, as may best tende to his honour and glory, and the saluation of our soules.

Of the Spring. 1589.

THE Spring tyme, beyng the seconde part of the yeere Astronomicall, taketh his beginnyng at the Sunnes entring into the fyrst minute of the signe Aries, which falleth this yeere on the. x. day of March, at. vii. of the clocke, and. xii. minutes in the morning, and now are the dayes and nyghtes of one equall length. This Winter quarter continueth vnto the. xi. day of June folowyng, vntyll the Sunne do enter into the signe Cancer. This season of the naturall qualitie is warme and moyst, and lykewyse very temperate and healthfull, yet bryngeth it, or rather sheweth forth many sicknesses, not engendryng them by exteme, but discouryng suche as were inwardly bred by the distemperature of other tymes.

This Spring is lykely to proue very kyndly, except it be for some infectious easterly wyndes, whiche may much hynder the growth of diuers kyndes of fruites. From the beginnyng of this quarter, vntyll the myddest thereof, reasonable dry weather may be expected: but about the myddest, vntyll towarde the ende, very much wynde and rayne: but towardes the ende of this quarter of the Spring it is very lykely (in my opinion) to be very seasonable and goodly weather, to the comfortable shewe of the yeelde of Corne, and other fruites of the earth: God graunt vnto vs thankefull harres therefore.

The diseases lykely to molest the bodyes of men in this season, are Coughes, ache in the Ioynes, paynes in the Sydes, tertian Agues, Toothach, swimmyng in the Head, Measelles, small Pockes, paynes in the Eyes, the Collicke and Stone, with other diseases, not vsually happenyng in the Spring tyme.

Touchyng other affayres, I omit to speake of, aswell in this Quarter of season of the yeere, as in other: onely I beseeche Almyghtie GOD to direct vs with his holy spirite, that we may lyue as true Christians, professyng the Gospell of Iesus Christ, preparyng our selues to the vttermost of all our powers, to preuent the mischiefs of all suche as are enemies to her Maiestie, and her hyghnes Realme and people of Englande, prayyng most earnestly for the long continuance and preseruation of her most excellent Maiestie, and the happy estate of all her most honorable Counsell, and Nobles of the Lande.

Of Sommer. 1589.

SOmmer (accompted the thyrde part of this yeere Astronomicall) doth begynne at the entry of the Sunne into the fyrst minute of Cancer, which shalbe this yeere the. xii. day of June, where he maketh the Sommer Solstice, hauyng his greatest declination to the North from the Equinoctiall, and now is the longest day and the shortest nyght. The entrie or begynnyng of the fyrst part of this Quarter, wyll proue very hotte and dry, accordyng to his proper nature: about the myddest hereof some soultrie rayny shewers, with thunder, lyghtnyng, and tempest, with a lykely apparition of some fyery meteors in the Element, to many very strange to beholde: towardes the ende of this Sommer quarter, a very goodly Harueste weather, to the great comfort and ioy of good people.

Sicknesses most lykely to reigne in this tyme of the yeere, wyl be hot Apostumes, and inflammations, dyuers sortes of Agues, and other hot diseases, suspitiousnes of the Plague in some places, paynefull grypinges in the Stomacke and Belly, sweatyng more then naturall, and some sharpe diseases among Chyldren. The Lord God graunt vs patience, in these and all other extremities whatsoeuer.

Of

A Prognostication,

Of the Harueſt. 1589.

HArueſt, beyng the fourth and laſt part or quarter of this yeere (with the Aſtronomers) begynneth the. xiii. day of September, halfe an houre after. vii. of the clocke in the mornyng, when as the Sunne forſaketh the laſt ſcruple of Virgo, and ſpeedeth into the fyrſt minute of Libra, where he then maketh the Equinoctium Hyemal, worckyng the ſame effect that he dyd at his goyng into Aries, that is, makyng the day and nyght iuſt of one length, for then the Sunne ryſeth at ſixe of the clocke in the mornyng, and ſetteth at ſixe at nyght.

This ſeaſon naturally is colde and dry, which I ſuppoſe in the begynnyng wyll proue very kyndly: and towardes the myddes many colde rayny ſhewers, and very variable weather: but about the ende of this quarter, very colde froſty weather, with great ſtore of ſnow and ſleete.

The diſeaſes in this quarter of the yeere, moſt doubtfull to afflict the body, are quartane Agues, blacke Jaundies, wyndines about the Mydryfe, Crampes, Stytches, ache in the Joyntes of the aged, the Pyles, the Goute, the Sciatica, with other ſickneſſes very greeuous. Seeke the counſell of the learned Phiſition at the begynnyng, for feare of too late repentyng: but aboue all, ſeeke the heauenly Phiſition, who vpon true repentaunce for our wycked lyues, and hartie prayer vnto hym in the name of his ſonne Jeſus Chriſt, wyll moſt aſſuredly comfort vs, helpe vs, and make vs whole for euer.
